

The background is a teal-toned image of a rocky coastline with waves crashing against the shore. A large white circle is centered over the image, containing text. The text is arranged vertically: 'COAST' at the top, a decorative line of slanted dashes below it, 'COOK' and 'CATCH' in large letters in the middle, and 'EAT' at the bottom.

With a back-to-basics seafood menu, COAST showcases the best quality seafood served with classic style," says proprietor, Emad Yacoub. "This is a place where diners can slurp icy oysters, crack into a crab claw and savour a rich chowder, along with a crisp glass of wine or a nice, chilled beer."

At the 24-seat 'Oyster & Chowder Bar', Atlantic and Pacific Coast oysters are shucked along with signature dishes like Dungeness crab cakes, seafood platters, lobsters, chowders and sushi. Landlubbers may select juicy cuts of beef.

remember and return to often. The expansive space features a clean, contemporary design by Vancouver's BOX Interior Design. Deep turquoise tones, mosaic-tile floors and lush leather banquettes define a breathtaking, new Vancouver aesthetic and extends a respectful nod to historic San Francisco, home to the world's most iconic seafood eateries. The COAST entry welcomes guests through a street-side lounge bordered by fire pits. Beyond, guests will be drawn to a warm and intimate mezzanine featuring a signature private dining space.

"This $4.8-million spot from the Glowbal Group, across from sister restaurant Italian Kitchen on Alberni Street, is 7,000 square feet of luxury. Soaring aquamarine walls with ivory and wood accents flank the room's magnificent central feature: a towering circular raw bar teeming with fresh seafood and booze galore."

"The crab cakes are the best I've had. Made in a ring collar, sides are perfectly straight; top and bottom are crisp and golden; inside, it's very crabby. The New England Clam Chowder with double-smoked bacon cost less than a bowl I'd had a few days earlier in Bellingham. This was delicious compared to the sludgy, clamless impersonator."
